PINOT NERO BUCHHOLZ

Buchholz is the name of a steep single site at an altitude of 440 to 500 meters above the small town of Salorno. Due to an optimum sun exposure, the grapes can ripen slowly and bring out this delicate Pinot Nero.

Label: Perkeo was the court jester and cupbearer of Kurfürst Philip von der Pfalz. According to legend, little man from Salorno was able to finish the big barrel, which held about 200.000 litres, in one go. But once he got very sick, the doctor advised him to drink a glass of water. After the first sip of water, he has fallen dead according the legend.

To pair with dark meat, game, cheese, strong fish dishes. Ruby red colour, notes of red berries, elegant body, well-structured, well-balanced acidity.
