

Castelfeder

SÜDTIROL • ALTO ADIGE

KERNER LAHN AROMATIC SELECTION

The grapes for this Kerner Lahn grow at an altitude of about 900 m above sea level. As a hybrid of Trolliner (Schiava) and Riesling, the grape variety is named after the Swabian poet Justinus Kerner and brings out spiced wines with delicate notes of nutmeg.

Name: In local dialect „Lahn“ means avalanche. Some time ago near in the mountains near to the vineyards a mudslide went adrift and that is why the wine from these vineyards is called “Lahn”.

Label: It shows a rock-hewn fountain next to the vineyard.

Alto Adige DOC

Selected vineyards in the Bassa Atesina region

Guyot

Sandy limestone gravel

Manual harvest, gentle pressing, fermentation in stainless steel, maturation on the yeast for 6 months

Aperitif, light starters, delicately spiced dishes

Straw yellow colour, aromatic notes of yellow fruits, well-balanced, crisp acidity, complexe structure